Dear Harold,

you're really too much! I don't know of many people who would open their homes to two people they have never met and know very little about. I appreciate your kindness more than I can say. As I said in my last letter, we have no definite plans yet because I've got a lot of work to do and my friend is teaching this term and also won't be able to get away for awhile. However, when we do make more definite plans, I'll let you know far enough in advance of our arrival so that you'll have time to escape before we get there!

I would indeed be interested in your analysis of the Tonkin Gulf. If you could send me a copy it would be a big help because I need as many sources as I can find.

What's the latest news on the Ray case? I haven't heard anything about it for over a month, so any new development you can tell me, no matter how small, will be greatly welcomed. I have all my relatives and friends, including one friend who is at school in Harrisburg, checking every paper and magazine they get, but no one has come up with anything for a month, and my curiosity is killing me.

Thanks again and take care.

Karen
